Announcement from the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS):

Welcome to the new, streamlined Hospital Quality Reporting (HQR) experience. We have launched a centralized dashboard customized to your needs, putting all the most important information at your fingertips.

Created based on feedback from HQR users, the dashboard provides everything you need at a glance, including:

- Submissions: View your submissions all in one place. Sort by submission period (open, upcoming, closed), filter by program, , or most importantly, see due dates front and center. Never worry about missing a deadline – submissions will be sorted with the closest due dates at the top and include badges to remind you when a submission period is closing soon and you still have requirements to meet.
- Program Updates: Get timely updates on the programs relevant to you, easily see what's new to you with color coded notification badges, and filter by program to see the updates that you're interested in based on what you are working on right now.
- Program Resources: Easily access the resources you need to meet your program requirements. You are one click away from QualityNet, the Quality Reporting Center, and CMS's library of how-to videos.
- Support: Need support? Quickly access CCSQ Support Central, email support, or call the help desk without having to search for these connections.

Note: This dashboard is currently available at the Provider level. Vendors will have this access coming in the near future.

Keep an eye out for a tutorial video to walk through the new dashboard, which will be available soon.
